

Peter and the Wolf

GRADES
1-4

Greg Stephens conductor

Madame Lark (Christine Johnston) narrator

There's a wolf on the loose and young Peter has to use his wits to do something about it. Not only is Peter in danger, so are his animal friends – the bird, the duck and the cat. How will it end? Come along and find out! Music and storytelling don't get any better than Prokofiev's classic children's tale.

Note: These concerts are for children. In keeping with the informal atmosphere, students will be seated on the floor. Limited seats will be available.

Maximus Musicus

visits the Orchestra

GRADES
1-4

Benjamin Northey conductor
Allison Farrow narrator

Allow us to explain. Maximus is a very cute mouse whose itinerant life takes a turn for the better when he hides out in a concert hall. He soon discovers that his new digs have their very own sound system – a live symphony orchestra! Come on Maxi's journey of discovery as he gets to know the instruments of the orchestra and the terrific music that they play, including Beethoven's Fifth Symphony and Ravel's Bolero. More than a concert, Maximus Musicus visits the Orchestra includes storytelling and big-screen projections.
