

Joel Bass

Bio

Joel's conductor training began during his studies at UWA where he achieved the top music graduate prize for 2013 and also obtained a second degree in mechanical engineering focusing on acoustics. He pursued further studies at Berlin's University of the Arts and then went on to join Symphony Services International's Conducting Development program in 2015-16, working with many of Australia and New Zealand's professional orchestras. Meanwhile, he started his own orchestra, the Swan Philharmonic, bringing together young musicians with professional mentors. He has also conducted WAAPA and UWA concerts, Perth community orchestras, and various productions for musical theatre groups. He is also a percussionist and pianist and in these capacities has played with WASO, TSO, MSO, SSO Sinfonia and AYO Momentum Ensemble as well as taking up numerous recital accompaniment and repetiteur engagements.
