

Rhys Gray

Rhys Gray was born in Hobart, Tasmania in 1996, and grew up in the picturesque Huon Valley. He was awarded both a Bachelor of Music majoring in Composition, and an Associate's Degree in Music Studies majoring in ensemble performance in 2017.

Known for his polystylism and broad range of influences, Rhys composes for the concert hall, stage, screen, and computers. Irreverent and unafraid to eschew convention, his music pulses unpredictably, and plays on expectations.

His works have been performed by the Australian String Quartet, Tasmanian Symphony Orchestra, Second Echo Ensemble, and many solo artists. He enjoys collaborative and cross-discipline works, and is a regular fixture in musical theatre pits in Hobart.
