TSO Launch FRIDAY NIGHT LIVE; Livestreamed concerts every Friday night from 30 October to 4 December

The Tasmanian Symphony Orchestra announces the launch of its first ever digital concert series Friday Night Live, which will be streamed live from Federation Concert Hall on Friday nights, 30 October – 4 December.

Designed to provide audiences with the full experience of a TSO concert in your own living room - or wherever you choose to watch - Friday Night Live is a fully programmed series of concerts, featuring TSO ensembles of various sizes and an exhilarating range of repertoire, curated in collaboration with TSO musicians

Tune in from 6:45pm for Concert 101, the pre-show segment of the night where you'll get the background on the music being performed and hear interviews with some of the musicians, bringing you up close and personal to the excitement and energy before the concert starts at 7pm.

Access to the stream is $22.50 per concert. Registering and connecting your favourite device is easy, with all instructions - including video explainers - available on the viewing site: watch.tso.com.au.

Come behind the scenes after the concert with Clover Hill Club Lounge In Conversations - an informal 30 minute catch-up over Zoom with guests, musicians and the people who have brought Friday Night Live together.

TSO Friday Night Live.
