

Tasmanian Symphony Orchestra Chorus

Information for Prospective Choristers 2022

The Tasmanian Symphony Orchestra Chorus (TSOC) is Tasmania's premier chorus. There is a membership base of around 60 choristers, made up of a mix of Hobart business professionals, teachers, students, retirees, musicians and non-musicians. TSOC is an SATB chorus that performs with the orchestra, and also extends itself with 'a cappella' repertoire in performances for MOFO, Dark MOFO, Festival of Voices and regional touring. The Chorus is regularly invited to travel within Australia to collaborate with interstate orchestras and choruses. All choristers are volunteers, but in return are given the opportunity to work at the highest level with professional symphony orchestras, international and local conductors and soloists, and a dedicated Chorusmaster, répétiteurs and Chorus Coordinator.

This sounds great, but will I have fun?

Absolutely! Members enjoy the challenge and thrill of performing, but there is also a strong social culture and sense of community within the group.

Do I need to be able to sight-read?

No, but of course this is very valuable skill! Learning tools are made available for the majority of programs, but ultimately, it's your responsibility to learn the music at home and come to rehearsals prepared.

When and where are rehearsals held? What is the commitment?

The TSO Chorus meets on Tuesday evenings from 7:30-10pm, and the occasional Sunday from 2-5pm. During a concert week, there are rehearsals most evenings in the lead up to the performance. Rehearsals are held at the TSO Studio. The entrance is on the corner of Macquarie and Evans St, next to the Federation Concert Hall in Hobart. Projects vary in schedules and length, but schedules are usually made available at the end of each year for the following year. Once you have committed to a project, you are expected to attend all rehearsals for that project. Rehearsals in the performance week are mandatory. Exceptions are made on a case-by-case basis.

What does it cost to be a member of the TSO Chorus?

Each member pays an annual levy at the start of each year. The 2022 fee will be $145 full/$85 concession per year. Funds raised by the levies are used to meet the costs of chorus development workshops, master classes, and tutorials where acclaimed conductors and singers develop the chorus. Funds are also set aside for travel subsidies for choristers participating in interstate collaborations.

How do I become a member?

Membership is offered after a successful audition and by mutual agreement after a six-week trial. You may be required to re-audition periodically thereafter at the Chorusmaster's discretion. Continued chorus membership is conditional on maintaining an appropriate vocal standard.

Can I observe a rehearsal before auditioning?

To find out when this is possible within the schedule, please contact the Chorus Coordinator.

What does the audition involve? (subject to variation)

- Singing a set Concone Vocalise (with piano accompaniment). Presenting this from memory is encouraged.
- Singing two set excerpts from a choral work (with piano accompaniment)
- Technical/musicianship set excerpts taken from upcoming repertoire
- Aural exercise – sing notes from a chord that is played on the piano
- Singing some scales to determine your range and voice type

What do I need to bring to the audition?

- Your music

Who will be on the audition panel?

In 2022, the audition panel will consist of:

- June Tyzack, Chorusmaster of the TSO Chorus
- Simon Rogers, Director, Artistic Planning at the TSO
- Susan Ellis, QLD Singer/Singing Teacher or Kimberley Rimes, Voice Consultant

Is an accompanist provided for the audition?

Yes, an accompanist will be provided. The accompanist's fee for the audition will be met by the Tasmanian Symphony Orchestra, however you are responsible for the cost of any rehearsals you choose to have with them prior to the audition. If you would like to meet with the accompanist prior to the audition, please contact the Chorus Coordinator for the details.

Where will the auditions be held?

The auditions will take place in the TSO Studio which can be accessed from the building's glass door on the corner of Macquarie St and Evans St (the blue zig-zag-painted building next to the Federation Concert Hall). Please arrive at least 15 minutes prior to settle. If you are running late or have any questions on the day, please contact the Chorus Coordinator on 0488 324 421. Please also be up-to-date with the TSO's covid policy and protocols.

I have more questions!
